St. Petersburg, June 28,-Consternation the rapid spread of cholera. At Baku capital of the Caspian Sea, thirty-five new cases of vere reported yesterday. Baku is a great petroleum shipping port. The row and crooked and the town is generally ill built. Sanitary rules are more red in the breach than the observance, though since the Ministry of the Interior has taken the matter in hand some little improvement is seen. The city contains Parsec les to which pilgrimages are made probable that the disease was introduced by the pilgrims. Thousands of the workmen employed in the city and at the Petroleum Springs on the Feninsula of Apsheron, on which Baku is situated, have become so frightened that they are leaving in droves. The Quarantine Commission at Baku has fel-egraphed to the Ministry of the Interior that, though there is a little betterment in the sanitary condition of the city, the regula-tions for preventing the spread of the disease are not sufficiently stringent to effect the ds sought. The commission asks for fur

The remarkable lead taken in trade resolutions by the colonies is generally commented upon. It is certain that the colonies have never before adopted so strong a tone in their suggestions to the mother country and their present to the mother country and their present stand in this respect is thought to be chiefly influenced by the tariff laws of the United States and a determination to insist upon steps for their own protection and benefit. Conversations with the delegates from Conversations with the delegates from abroad show that they feel that the colonies have little to gain by their attachment to the British Empire unless some preference is given them in their trade relations with England over foreign countries. The feeling, though exhibited most strongly by the Canadian delegates, is generally shared and expressions of it are plainly manifest in the resolutions placed on the Agenda paper.

One of the most important resolutions is that offered by the Winnipeg Board of Trade of Manitoba, as follows:

One of the most important resolutions is that offered by the Winnipeg Board of Trade of Manitoba, as follows:

"That in the opinion of this congress the time has come or is close at hand when the people of Great Britain can with confidence look to the colonies and dependencies of the Empire for that portion of their bread-stuffs which they find it necessary to import from year to year. The rapid development of grain production in Canada, India and Australia-Asia during the past ten years clearly indicates that these countries will soon have annually an export surplus of grain in excess of the annual demand from the British Isies, and it will be altogether uncessary for the latter to look for supplies to foreign countries, and especially to those whose tariff laws are so framed as to strike especially at the trade interests of Great Britain and British colonies. That this congress sees the best method of securing this end by a system in the mother country of tariff discording the colonies of products of foreign nations, and in favor of the import of such goods from the colonies.

That this congress favors such a movement believing that its enforcement would serve as a check upon the natural selfishness which at the present time seems to inspire

ENGLAND AND THE FAIR.

RENEWED INTEREST TAKEN-MR. M'CORMICK' WORK.

LONDON, June 28.-The Royal British Com ission for the World's Fair has appoin an executive committee and thereby has greatly strengthened its organization. ommittee is formed of the existing finance committee and by four other members of the commission. Meetings of the executive are held weekly, when all business connected with this section is byought before them for discussion and to enable them to advise the royal commission at their frequent meetings upon the executive policy they consider most desirable. The appointment of the Executive Committee evidences the awakening of the Committee evidences the awakening of the commission to the necessity of some zealous efforts on behalf of the industries they represent, as well as to the great importance of those industries being properly represented those industries being properly represented at the exposition.

Mr. McCormick has achieved a great victory at Bradford, where the opposition to the Fair is strongest. Mr. John A. Tibbitts, United States Consul at Bradford, has written that it would be needless to call a meeting in the interest of the exposition at Bradford, and that Mr. McCormick should expect rather a cold reception should be visit that rather a cold reception should he visit that place. Mr. McCormick has presented letters to Mr. Tibbitts. Many reasons are given why the Bradford manufacturers should cease their opposition and send samples of their manufactures to Chicago. These letters have been varyiegnerally published in the Vorkshire. been very generally published in the Yorkshire papers, which facts, with the zealous co-opration of Mr. Tibbitts, have doubtless ha much to do with the change of front that has taken place. The Chamber of Commerce have now asked whether Mr. McCormick will not come to Bradford for the purpose of de livering an address to a full meeting, which he has agreed to do.

linger here. The Blaine and Harrison men are still at daggers' points. Taking into con sideration the difference in the size of the crowds there is as much bitter talk indulged in. bout the corridor of the Arlington Hotel as there was about the West House, Minneapo lis, three weeks ago. J. S. Clarkson feel that he has not only been snubbed, but also grossly insulted, by the President. Clarkson says he thought it pretty hard have the President inform him have the President his frigid way that he could continue as Chairman. But when the President told him he could take charge of the literary bureau, a place that only ranked as a clerkship, it was mortifying. Clarkson's friends insist that this tender of a clerkshir was a studied insult, not only to Clarkson, but to the friends of Mr. Rlaine.

It remained, however, for Dick Kerens of Missouri to prove the Burchard of the meet ing. Mike De Young of California was in the chair, and Fassett moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft resolutions of thanks to Clarkson. De Young ap-Wolcott. Senator Sam Fessenden on the committee. At the mention of the names of the committeemen Mr. Kerens jumped up excitedly and asked

"Are the friends of the President to be ignored on the committee? Everyone of the ommittee are Blaine men."

This gave Senator Wolcott the opportunity he longed for. He relieved himself of a quantity of surplus sarcasm left over from Minneapolis at the expense of the President. The dashing young Senator made the Har-rison men feel miserable, and poor Kerens was roundly abused for his Burchardism. They muzzled Kerens and then apolo pegta for his remark. However Kerens is believed to be volced the feeling of the Harrison people, and he thoroughly aroused the Blaine men, who feel just as ugly as they did at Minneapolis. Here is the way one of the most prom Blaine members of the committee talks: 'The President is going to run his own campaign. The Republican headquarters in New York will be connected with the White House by a special wire. Just think of the President of the United States directing deals with ward politicians in New York and dictating how the corruption fund shall be disposed. When the country became disgusted with Dave Hill because he started out to hunt the presidential nomination, you may be sure the people will feel outraged at a man occupying the Presidency indulging in the tricks of small politicians for his own benefit. The President acknowledged to Mr. Clarkson that he would have supervision of the campaign. The Chairman of the National Committee will be a figurehead. Harrison National simply to rely on himself and friends for his reelection. He acts as if he would like to drive the Blaine men out of the party. MADE CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICAN NA-TIONAL COMMITTEE. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28 .- When the Republican National Committee reassembled at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after the retirement of Gen. Clarkson from the Chairmanship at the wish of the rresident had been settled at the previous session, the the first business was the appointment of a committee of three, on motion of Mr. Payne of Wisconsin, to express the views of the committee of three, on motion of Mr. Payne of Wisconsin, to express the views of the committee on the retirement of Gen. Clarkson. Messrs. Payne of Wisconsin, Wolcott of Colorado and Fassett of New York were appointed such a committee by the Secretary. Mr. Scott of West Virginia had read the following resolution, which was laid on the table to be taken up at some future time:

Mr. Scott of West Virginia had read the following resolution, which was laid on the table to be taken up at some future time:

Resolved, That hereafter Republican National Conventions be composed of delegates from the several States apportioned upon the Republican votes actually cast in the last preceding presidential election, 7,000 we she basis of representation for than one-fact. The National Committee shall estify to the Chairman of each State Committee the number of delegates to which each State is entitled under the rule, and shall regulate the apportionment and election of such delegates.

Mr. J. F. Burke of Pittsburg, President of the College League of Republican Clubs, addressed the committee. He said that the organization of which he was President was formed May 17 to combat the increasing prevalence of free trade ideas among college graduates, due, he said, to the general use of European text-books.

Mr. Payne of Wisconsin placed in nomination as chairman of the Republican National Committee, William J. Campbell of Hilmois. The nomination was seconded by several other States, and Mr. Campbell was elected by acclamation. Mr. M. H. De Young of California was nominated for Vice-Chairman by Representative Hansbrough of North Dakota, and Mr. De Young was unanimously elected.

Mr. Sewell of New Jersey nominated Mr. Thomas Carter of Montana as Secretary of the committee, and Mr. Fassett of New York nominated Mr. G. A. Hobart of New Jersey, but subsequently withdrew the nomination, and Mr. Carter was unanimously elected.

Cornelius N. Bilss of New York was elected Treasurer and T. L. Swords of lows Sergeantary. Mr. Fessenden of Connecticut offered a resolution which was adopted, to the effect that an executive committee without a contest. Mr. Fessenden of Connecticut offered a resolution of the Republican of the Republica to the White House to call upon the President. The committee was conducted to the Blue Room, where they were joined by the President. Chairman Campbell introduced each member, and explained that the committee had effected an organization and had called to pay their respects. The President in a few words expressed his appreciation of the Courtesy, and after shaking hands with all who were present, the committee withdrew.

in a few words expressed his appreciation of the courtesy, and after shaking hands with all who were present, the committee withdrew.

Wm. J. Campbell, the new Chairman of the Republican National Committee, was born in Philadelphia. His family came to Chicago when he was young, and have ever since lived at Bloom, a suburb. Mr. Campbell attended the Northwestern University at Evanston, and also entered the University of Pennsylvania, but owing to lil-health did not continue in the latter institution beyond his junior year. Upon his return to this city his health improved rapidly, and in a few months he began the study of law in the office of Goudy & Chapdler. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar and formed a law partnership with Jacob R. Curtis under the firm name of Campbell & Curtis, which firm still exists with offices in the Rookery Building. Though Mr. Campbell has always taken an active interest in politics he has only held one political position, that of State Senator. He was elected in 1878 and served eight years. In 1881 and again in 1883 he was chosen President of that body. Mr. Campbell's residence is in Riverside, where he is President of the Board of Village Trustees. He is in the prime of life, of large stature, in vigorous health, enjoys an extended acquaintance with public men, and is well qualified to manage a national campaign. It is well known that while the presidential nominee does not actually choose the Chairman of the National Committee his preference is always respected and this leads to the conclusion that Mr. Harrison has shown his political astuteness in suggesting the name of Mr. Campbell.

The unpleasantness between Senator Farwell and the President and its origin in Mr. Harrison's refusal to appoint Mr. Campbell Collector at Chicago.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE CLUBS. STATE CONVENTION AT ROCHESTER-SPEECHES

dent McAipin delivered an address, which was much applauded.

Gentlemme of the Leadur: It again becomes my pleasant duty to welcome you to the councils of a convention of the Republican clubs of the State of New York. I congratulate you and the Republican party upon the splendid representation at this fifth annual convention of the league. Starting as an experiment the league has already demonstrated its effciency as a component bart of the party organization and from a few clubs with but a limited membership, now shows upon its official roll the record of more than five handred clubs, embracing over a hundred thousand members. NEW YORK, June 28. To Col. E. A. McAlpin, Rochester:

To Col. E. A. McAlpin, Rochester:

If it were possible I would most cheerfully respond to your cordial invitation to attend the annual convention of the Lague on the 28th inst., but business of a pressing nature will prevent. The League will be a more potential factor in the canvass this fall than ever before. With its earnest and enthusiastic support of the ticket this State can be carried. Cold-ness or indifference on your part means diasster. Principles are greater than candidates. The necessity for sustaining the principles of the grand old party will raily all the faithful to the front during the pending struggle, and the League will lead. Yours faithfully. STATE OF OHIO, OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOB, COLUMBUS, June 13.

Mr. Jobe Hedges, Secretary:

My DEAR SIR-Public duties and engagements are so pressing that I am compelled to dony myself the pleasure of attending the convention. I take advantage of the opportunity, however, to send greetings. New York State will be the center of a great political battle to be fought this fail. We shall all eagerly watch events in your State. New York must be carried for Harrison and Reid. Both are "Buck-eyes" by birth. Ohio gave start to the league idea in politics, and Ohio now with conidence cails upon the league men to see to it that they carry the banner of Harrison and Reid to victory.

He not decrived into a faise sense of security by the bitter personal dissensions of the Democracy. Let your aim be first to get out every Republican vote; next, to carry every doubtful and indifferent voter; next, to carry every doubtful and indifferent voter; next, to the procratic ticket through habit or association, but who, if encouraged, will vote for country rather than for party; who prefer protected American industries to foreign free-trade products; and finally, to look after the young men—the first-voters.

The Issue has been clearly drawn by the American Mr. Jobe Hedges, Secretary:

American industries to foreign froe-trade products; and smally, to look after the young mea-the first and smally, to look after the young mea-the first the isage has been clearly drawn by the American platform of Minneanois on the one side and by the revised free trade propuncement at the Chicay on the other hand, notwithstanding the protest of one-third of the delegates to the Democratic convention. Our opponents have declared that American labor shall not be given the beneit of a tariff which shall represent the difference between the wages paid in the United States and those paid abroad, but that there shall be a tariff "for revenue only" no matter though the home industry be stilled and our people look for employment and find it not.

The Republican party eagerly, joyfully and exultantly accept the gage of battle. Foremost in the fight will be the League of Republican clubs. Theirs is the work of organization, education and inapiration which will calminate in a victory of such magnificent proportions that the world will take note that America is a nation in all that the terms implies—enjoying the fullest and broadest liberty of any on earth and capable of preserving its commercial as well as its political independence. Very truly yours, which we have a store the single properting the fullest and broadest liberty of the Rhode Island League and after regretting his inability to be present and speaking of the opening of the Maine campaign as brilliant, he says:

"The more I look about the more firmly am I convinced that this is going to be a tremendously hard conflict and we cannot begin too early in our preparatory work."

A letter was also read from President Harrison regretting that other arrangements prevented his being present. He referred to the active in upholding the doctrine of protection to American workmen.

After the appoinment of committees the convention took a recess until 4 p. m.

TAKING LEGAL STEPS. REPUBLICANS TRYING TO UNDO THE NEW YORK

New York, June 28.—The legal battle which Republicans in this State propose to wage against the reapportionment bill passed by the Democratic Legislature took definite form yesterday. A committee from the Republican Club called upon Senator Hiscock at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and he and the committee went over the whole aspect of the case, taking two hours in which to consider the law points. The legal advisor is L. E. Chittenden, ex-Registrar of the Treasury. He was called upon a few weeks since to prepare a statement of the points involved and to act as counsel in conducting the cause for the Republicans at this end of the line. WILMINGTON, Del., June 28.-In an interview Ex-Secretary Bayard said in refe to the work on the platform of the Chicago

"The most dangerous and adverse force we had to encounter was the strong combination of the silver interests which had assembled with all their power to force the Democratic party into a declaration favorable to them or equivocal to the rest of the country. After an all night debate and struggle, the emphatic resolution for a dollar of full intrinsic and exchangeable value, with no paper an all night debate and struggle, the emphatic resolution for a dollar of full intrinsic and exchangeable value, with no paper money but such as shall be recemble in soin dollars tof full intrinsic and exchangeable value, proves a most satisfactory result to the friends of sound money, which must commend itself more and more to the thoughtful minds of the country as the campaign progresses. It has a straightforward and single meaning which is not contained in the expressions of the Republican party at Minneapolis. It is clear and emphatic, where the other is evasive and unsatisfactory. There was no especial dissatisfaction on the part of the committee that I am aware of with the ultimate expression of the convention on the tariff subject."

STEPHENS' REPLY.

THE STATE TREASURER ANSWERS THE CHARGES MADE BY T. B. JACKSON OF ST. LOUIS.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—State Treasurer Lon. V. Stephens to-day said, concerning the interview with T. B. Jackson in Sunday's POST-DISPATCH: "The whole business, from the very beginning, is a vicious and miserable scheme to annoy and emparrass me in my candidacy, and is in keeping with the methods employed by one of my opponents and jure me with the public, and to break down the reputation I have for a life-time been trying to build up. I have some enemies at Boonville who have for twelve years pursued me, and in this fight they lave some congenial support. The interview confirms me in my opinion of Jackson. I came to the conclusion some time ago that Jackson firms me in my opinion of Jackson. I came to the conclusion some time ago that Jackson was not a bad man at heart. However, he is dangerous, because he is just weak enough to allow bad and designing men to make of him a pliable tool. He was employed to do a certain work, to humiliate and crush me, at a time when, perhaps, I was at a disadvantage. It was not thought I could afford to resent the insuit offered, but in this, my friends the enemy were mistaken. After Mr. Jackson had returned to St. Louis where, away from corrupting and poisonous influences, he had time to reflect, his better judgment prompted him to retract his unkind words and to apologize for his treatment of me. Here is his retraction and apology: inion of Jackson. I came ome time ago that Jackson at heart. However, he is

St. Louis, May 28, 1892. To Mr. Lon V. Stephens: To Mr. Lon F. Stephens:

I desire to apologize for the treatment I extended to you when we were introduced at Armstrong, Mo., yesterday. I am satisfied upon further redection that I have wronged you. I have no recollection that you took me to sell my claim against the bank. From conversation with you, I have no doubt that you ishored to do your whole duty in the receivership of the Fifth National Bank and to protect the interests of all creditors. Your well-known reputation for probity precludes any thought that you in any wise shared in whatever profit accrued to the Durchaser of my claim.

I trust with this apology the unfortunate occurrence will be forever dropped. Yours truly,

T. B. JACKSON.

"If on top of this," continued Mr. Stephens,
"he sues me for slander, when I am the one manifestly slandered, it will be to gratify those who have gotten him into the unfortunate difficulty. I have been assured by over 100 of the traveling men of Missouri that they management of the affairs of the Flifth speak for itself. I had 100,000 people to dealwith, and I know of but three who have found any fault with me in connection with that delicate and responsible trust." T. B. JACKSON.

CAMPBELL VENTILATED.

SENATOR VEST TURNS THE LIGHT ON THE RE-PUBLICAN CHAIRMAN. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28 .- The Senate has already started in to manufacture political capita and personalities are being wrung into the debate. Senator Vest, in splendid speech, charged Camp , the new chairman of the bell, the new chairman of the National Committee, with being the attorney of the Armour meat trust. He told how Campbell had advised the Armours to refuse to honor a subpœna of a Senate Investigation Committee. When Vest's committee was investigating the meat business of the country Campbell had followed them about to look after the interests of the meat trust. In reply to this Senator Hale said he was satisfied that ex-Secretary Whitney was not interested in the Standard Oil Co., and still the public would believe that the Standard Oil Co. controlled the result of the recent Chicago convention.

John Thornton was a man bad almost beyond conception. His entire life was a series of crimes. He married a number of women and treated all, except one—an Indian woman—with the most inhuman crueity, seeming to take delight in wedding women and then torturing them. He gave unbridled play to the brute passions which were so strong in him. The crime for which he was executed was the cold-blooded murder of his own daughter, Mrs. Laura Moynier, at Krebbs, Choctaw Nation. The young woman had just been married and was thoroughly enraptured with her husband. Her brutal father one day attempted to outrage her. Whether he succeeded is not known, but in any event, probably through fear that she would inform on him, he brutally murdered her.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., June 28.-Henry Black ored, the murderer of George Smith ex plated his crime on the gallows in the Courthouse yard in this city this morning. He had given warning last night that he would make a struggle for his life, but this morning he was resigned and his fortitude had not forsaken him until the cap was adjusted when a tremor precipitately shook his frame. At 12:09, the trap was spring by Sheriff Frank Silverman, and death resulted in seven minutes. His neck was broken in the fall according to law, only twenty-live persons, besides the jury and members of the press were admitted into the inclosure in which the scaffold was erected. Large crowds were surrounding it all morning, but no demonstration was made.

The crime for which Black, who was 22 years old, suffered the death penalty, was proven to be a most cold-blooded one, and on May 25 he was sentenced after the quickest trial that ever occurred in this state. To a reporter this morning he admitted his guilt, but insisted that the killing had been accidental, which statement he referred to on the gailows. He said the girl, who was 16 years old, and the daughter of the the woman with whom he had been living as man and wife near this city, on Feb. 18, refused to do something her mother had asked her to do, when he struck her with a small board that her mother had handed him for that purpose. The girl ran away and in order to frighten and stop her he shot off his pistol. He saw her fall and upon approaching he was horrified to find that the bail had entered her head just above the ear, resulting in instant death. He picked the body up to carry it to the house, but remembering that a Coroner's inquest would have to be held, brought it back again and remained on the spot until he was arrested. This action said he with emphasis should have proven that I did not mean to kill her, as I could have easily escaped. He remarked that he had given up looking for help from men, but had put his faith in God. He desired this morning that no more visitors be allowed and smoked a cigar with perfect resignation. An attempt was made by his attorners yesterday to procure a commutation of his sentence but their efforts were of no avail. to procure a commutation of hout their efforts were of no avail.

A DENISON TRAGEDY. DR. J. K. YOWELL KILLED BY EDITOR B. W.

DENISON, Tex., June 28.-Another traged graces Denison's annals. At 11:05 Edi W. Harris of the Greenville Herald shot and nstantly killed Dr. J. K. Yowell, Yowell was standing on the Star store cor-ner when E. W. Harris and brother, Dick Harris, of the Henderson Times, brother, Dick Harris, of the Henderson Times, drove up in a buggy. Spying Yowell, E. W. Harris called out, "Yowell, Towell." Yowell turned his head, saw who was calling and started to run. Harris brought his Winchester to his shoulder and fired quickly. The bullet struck Yowell in the base of the skull and came out of the upper lip. Harris fired two more shots but missed. Yowell fell on the sidewalk, and in about ten seconds after the first shot was fired Yowell was a corpse. Both of the Harris boys were arrested and put in jail. In conversation Harris, when the Poet-DISPARCH man told him he had killed his man, said, "Thank God. He has insulted my wife time yand again and disgraced me. I tried to kill him."

The body was picked up and carried to the stand out as the prominent feature of this convention, but the battle against Chase has been one carried on with divided forces and without a commander in whom there was any great amount of confidence.

The only hitch in the construction of the The only hitch in the construction of the platform was the temperance plank. Representative men from vagious parts of theistates have been sought for their views. Eventually it was decided, and by a practically unanimous vote, to ignore any declaration of any kind on the temperance question. Several gentlemen insisted on the local option plank of four years ago, but they were voted down. The action taken was largely on account of the finistence made by the indianapolis people and those from other cities that the party would gain votes in their localities by saying nothing. A number of speeches to that effect were made. It was strenuously insisted that every time the party had made a decided avowal on the temperance question it has been defeated, and every time it had straddled or had made an ambiguous declaration it had won on this principle.

DELEGATES ON THE GROUND-CHANCES OF CAN-

DIDATES. CINCINNATI, O., June 28 .- The work of the National Convention of the Prohibition party practically opened to-day, with a meeting of T. Dickie of Ann Arbor, Mich., presided. The primary object of the gathering is the selection of temporary officers of the convention proper, which assembles to-morrow in the mammoth Cincinnati Music Hall, but the committee did not confine itself to routine, and was largely in the nature of a cancus to shape as far as possible in advance the proceedings of what might be the liveliest national convention ever held by the Prohibitionists.

The is a good deal of work in general. The presidential nomination is being fought over and the record of Gen. Bidwell, who is the choice of the leaders, is being overhauled by his opponents to show that he would not be a strong candidate. Gen. Bidwell is the man on whom those opposed to Mr. Demoreth's candidacy wish to concentrate, and to block this is the purpose of the charges against him.

The Demorest boom has the advantage of organization and of planting months ago, when little thought was given to it, except by its friends. This is an application of new methods in the Prohibition party, and though Demorest has secured a number of votes, the leaders say that he is, because of personal peculiarities, unavailable as a candidate.

The principal point raised in favor of Mr. Demorest seems to be that he will subscribe liberally to the campaign, but the Prohibitionists also want a man who will take well as a speaker, and Mr. Demorest they go so far as to say it would be necessary to send away until the campaign is over so that he could not make speeches or be interviewed.

ANOTHER STRONG ARM ADDED TO OUR GROWING NAVY.

The Usual Bottle of Wine Broken While 10,000 Spectators Are Cheering-Description of the Vessel-Built to Give and Receive Hard Knocks More Than for Speed.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., June 28.-The Norfolk Navy Yards and Constructor Francis T. Bowles have secured a signal triumph in the successful launching of the great battleship Texas here to-day. The scene, in spite of a rain during the entire forenoon, was a most animated one. About ten thousand spectators were in the yards, and as many more on teamers, tugs, yachts and on the shore. On the stand of the launching tower erected from the launching platform were Miss Houson Williams of Texas, her mother, Mrs. Williams; Lieut. W. S. Cole, the private sec-retary of Secretary Tracey and his official representative on this occasion and Ensign llary; E. P. Jones of the navy. The red, white and blue cords holding the bottle of wine were tied to a staff mounted by a star emblematic of the Lone Star State. At 11:16 o'clock the signal "Ready!" was given. Miss Williams, uttering the words 'I christen thee Texas,'' broke the bottle of wine on the bow of the noble vessel and she started. It was just forty-six seconds from the time the bottle was broken that the Texas was standing as firm as a land battery. Five minuts later she was moored to her wharf.

politician, yesterday. Both men were interested in the cases, Brady because, he had got the bond for them from Delegate James Cronin, and O'Brien for other reasons, and each wanted to get all the credit of having pull enough in the Police Court to get the prosecution stopped. They met on sixth street, a quarrel and a fight followed, and O'Brien is staying away from business to-day, while Brady is about the streets as usual, letting the breezes daily with his puffed bosom shirt. The fight, and the exposure of the plan to have the cases dropped from the docket made it seem for a while that the women would have to go to trial, but when court opened, Acting Prosecuting Attorney Ben Clark announced that he would noile prosequit he cases. He was asked why he had done so, and said that Police Judge Thomas Morris had asked him to do so. The Judge himself was seen then and explained further. "I had the cases noile prosequied because the young man who was with the girls the night they were out came to me just before court opened, and begged me to save him from exposure. He said it was the first offence of the women. I knew him and his father, and I thought it best not to hurt them as the publicity of a trial would do."

The young man concerned had up to this morning kept in the background and allowed John Thomas Brady and "O'Brien to manage things, believing they could do it. The exposure of their scheme through the fight showed him that if anything was done he would have to do it himself and do it at once, So he took the chance of an appeal to Judge Morris and was successful.

DIMENSIONS.

The United States Ship Texas is a steel armored twin screw, a second-class battle-ship of 6,335 tons normal displacement. Length between perpendiculars, 250 feet; extreme breadth, 64 feet, 1 inch; moulded depth, 59 feet, 8 inches; designed draft of water forward, 22 feet; designed draft of water forward, 22 feet; designed draft of water forward, 22 feet; designed draft of water aft, 23 feet. The mean draft will be 22 feet, 6 inches. When carrying about 500 tons of coal she can steam 1,110 miles at her estimated highest speed, 17 knots, or 8,500 miles at 10 knots. There is burker capacity, however, for 450 additional tons. The main armament consists of two 12 inch breech-loading guns, each weighing 46½ tons, mounted in two turrets, "en echelon," one being on the starboard side aft, the other on the port side forward, having a complete broudside range on their respective sides, the forward or port gun also having a range of 40 deg. on the starboard side, and the after gun 70 deg. on the port side; six 6-inch breech-loading guns, one mounted forward and one aft on the upper deck, as bow and stern chasers, each having a range of 120 deg., the others being mounted in sponsons on the main deck. The secondary battery consists of four 6-pounder and four 3-pounder rapid firing guns, with 47 mill metre Hotchkiss guns, all mounted on the gun deck behind 1½ inch plating; two Gatiling guns and two 37 millimeter Hotchkiss guns, mounted on the pringe, the same in the military tops and two 3-pounder rapid firing guns on the flying bridge. There are six torpedo tubes, one in the bow, one in the stem and two on each side; a strong rambow adds to her offensive powers. The turrets are armored with 12 inches of steel, which also protects the high and life feet in length, protect the supports. glish naval architect of the highest reputation, who has recently died. Mr. John described his design in a paper read before the Institute of Naval Architects at its annual meeting in London in 1885, and it was favorably regarded by the eminent naval officers present. The same act of Congress authorized the building of the battle-ship at a navy-yard, and the Norfolk Navy Yard as selected. At that time it was entirely lacking in the mechanical appliances and other necessary facilities of a modern ship-building plant, and the workmen were totally inexperienced in building steel ships. Much time was necessarily occupied in forming the nucleus of a plant, and in organizing and instructing the workmen, and it was not until June II, 1889, that the first keel plate was laid. At this period the mahufacture of steel for ship-building purposes was but partially developed, and the output of the steel makers could not supply the demand from public and private ship-yards. The material for each portion of a ship's structure is ordered of the dimensions required in the order in which it will be needed, and can only be used in its proper place, but the material was delivered so irregularly that many vexatious delays ensued. The steen post was ordered in July, 1889, but it was not completely delivered until August, 1890, more than a year afterward, thus necessitating suspension of the work on the after portion of the ship during this iong period. The steel plates for the protective deck were ordered in November, 1889, the contract requiring them to be delivered in sixty days thereafter; yet they were not half delivered until Mune, 1891. During this long period the greater portion of the work to be done above the protective deck was necessarily at a standstill. Even at the present time none of the armor has been received.

VEXATIOUS DELAYS.

The contractors for the structural plating of the Texas cause excessive delays by their irregular delivery. Six months after the beginning of the Texas the 3,000-ton cruiser Raleigh, launched in March last, was laid down, and the double-turreied monitor Amphitrite has been rebuilt and made ready for her armor, though none of it has been received. That this could be done is an evidence of the rapidity with which the plant and organization have advanced. At the present time the workmanship at the Norfolk Navy Yard is unsurpassed. The largest battle-ships can be built with economy and dispatch. dispatch.
The Texas is the first battleship of the new

They are expected to take part in hoty contested sea fights where hard blows and stubborn endurance will win the day. The battle-ship differs from the monitors in carrying the heavy guns high above the water so that they can be used in all ordinary weather at sea, and in carrying numerous additional breech-loading and rapid fire guns. The space not occupied by these guns affords commodious quarters for the crew. The monitor's heavy guns cannot be used in rough water and only a few of the smallest rapid-fire guns can be carried. The structure of a battle-ship is far more complete than that of a cruiser. Not only is there a far more expensive subdivision, but there are the supports and strengthening for armor and armament and the mechanism for loading and manipulating the guns, all of which must be light and amply strong.

ELOPERS CAUGHT. An Irate Father Overtakes Them-The

Mother Insans. MEXICO, Mo., June 28.-An elopement from hompson Sunday night was frustrated by ely interference of the father of the would-be bride. A young man named Pickett, aged 24, and Miss Cogswell, aged 14, were the parties interested. They came to Mexico in a vehicle and boarded a C. & A. train for the West. The girl's father heard of the runaways, came to Mexico in a hand-car, secured a late train and overtook the couple at Higginsville. The daughter was given a good shaking and the would-be son-in-law is considered quite fortunate in getting away without a scratch, for the old man's ire was up to the killing point. WRIGLEY'S Scouring

HE HAS THE CHILD.

John F. E. Keane Still in Possession of His Girl.

WIS ATTORNEY ADVISES HIM TO IGNORE JUDGE VALLIANT'S ORDER.

A Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Keane Fail to Find the Little One or Its Father, While Keane Claims to Be Hunting for Them to Give Up the Child-A Writ of Asestic troubles of the Keane family, and the complications growing out of the order of Judge Valliant yester-day, directing the Sheriff to assist Mrs. Keane to obtain possession of her John J. F. Keane, have given the case a most peculiar aspect to day. Mrs. Keane is suing her husband for divorce and pending the hearing of the suit, which will not come up until the October term, an order of urt was made, by agreement of the ries, that Keane and his wife have custody their child each alternative week. cane lives at $518 Caroline street, and his wife is stopping with remother, Mrs. James Killen, who lives at $71 lncky street.

her mother, Mrs. James Khilen, who lives at 14t Lucky street.

Yesterday Mrs. Keane into court with her attorney and stated that it was her turn to have the child, and that her husband wouldn't let her have it. Judge Valliant made an order directing the Sheriff to see that the former order of Court was carried out. The court record of Judge Valliant's order reads: "Writ of assistance ordered to assist plaintiff in obtaining possession of her child."

assist plaintiff in obtaining possession of her child."

The writ was given to Deputy Sheriff J. N. Schaperkotter to serve, and he and Mrs. Kenne spent all of yesterday afternoon and until noon to-day trying to find the child, but without success. Meantime the father of the child puts in an appearance but without the little one, and states that he has been looking for his wife to give up the child to her.

KEANE'S STATEMENT.

Keane states he had no desire to disobey the orders of the court. When his wife called for the child yesterday he stated he was willing to let her have the little one, and had her dressed and prepared. The child, however, clung to him, he said, and would not go to its mother. It was really not its mother, he stated, that the little one objected going with, but she did not want to go to its grand-mother's.

"If don't want to go to my mamma's grandmother's.

"I don't want to go to my mamma's grandma's," the little one cried, Keane stated, when he tried to induce it to go with its mother. "She wants her mamma to live with her papa," said Keane, explaining the child's conduct. "And she don't want either of us to live her grandmother, my wife's mother."

child's conduct. "And she don't want either of us to live her grandmother, my wife's mother."

Kenne blames his mother-in-law for the trouble between himself and his wife. He states that he has been looking forward to a reconciliation between himself and his wife, but fears that the present dimiculty will defeat it. When his wife called yesterday, he stated, she was accompanied by her brother Jim. He told her, he said, that it was not necessary for her to bring any one with her, and she said she had brought her brother for company.

THE CHILD WOULD NOT GO.

His wife, Keane stated, remained outside and he told her to come in and try to pacify the child and get it to go with her, but she would not. He said he told her however, that she should not drag the child away from him against the little one's will.

When his wife and her brother left, he said, he took the child and went down to the office of his lawyers, Edward Garesche and Frank A. Hobein. Mr. Garesche is out of town and Mr. Hobein is attending to the case. Keane said he left the child at Mr. Hobein's office and went down to the Court-house. His object was, he stated, to present himself before the court and explain the situation, and state that he was ready to obey the order of court. The case belongs in Court room No. 3, Judge Withrow's court, and Keane did not know anything about the proceeding before Judge Valliant's court, he stated, but his wife and her attorney not being there at the time he did not learn what had been done.

e then returned home, he stated, and rned that the sheriff had been there. He at down-town again, he said, and called at sister's, thinking his wife might have the there looking for him. He acted, he d, under the advice of his attorney and uld do what ever he told him to do. It is a suite of the called at Mr. Hobeln's office this mornitary was the control of the without the child, and stated that he would do what ever he told him to do.

He called at Mr. Hobeln's office this morning but without the child, and stated that he had it where he could get it when wanted.

JUDGE VALLIART'S ORDER WORFILLESS.

Mr. Hobeln said to-day that Judge Valliant's order was something new.

'An order of assistance I believe, it is called,' said the attorney. 'The court had no right to issue such an order. It is an order lo believe directing the sheriff to assist the mother in getting possession of the child. Now if my client had disobeyed a previous order of court, he should have been cited to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. But to issue an order on the application of one of the parties to have the child turned over, is something I never heard of before. I advised my client to pay no attention to it.

"I was at Mr. Kearne's attorney's office yesterday when the sheriff came in with 2 the writ, and I told him he could not get the the child wih such an order as that. There is no authority for issuing it. If the Sheriff attempted to enforce such an order he would be likely to get the best thrashing he ever got. The father is the custodian of that child, and no one has a right to take it from him without being armed with the proper autaority. If they wanted possession of the child under the circumstances a writ of habeas corpus was the proper remedy.

"I advised my client this morning, however, to turn over the child to its mother. The whole trouble was that they had a little dispute, and one rushed to a lawyer. I am hoping to see a reconciliation take place between the parties, and am working hard to wat effect. The whole trouble between them is, I think, caused by outside influence. If Mirs. Keane could be gotten away from her people I think she and her husband would get along all right.

Deputy Sheriff Schaperkotter, who was as-israed the duty of findling the child and turn-of along all right.

Deputs Schaperkotter, who was aspend the duty of inding the child and turning it over to its mother, thus gives his ex-signed the duty of finding the child and turning it over to its mother, thus gives his experience:

"When I was given the writ yesterday," said he, "Mrs. Keane and I went out to Mr. Keane's flouse. We saw Mr. Keane's isster, and she told Mrs. Keane that Air. Keane had left with the child a short time after Mrs. Keane's sister's, and they said that he was not there. We then went to Mr. Keane's house and waited around form long time but he did not come. His sister said we could search the house if we wanted to, but as I did not have a search warrant I did not. About 5 o'clock in the evaning Mrs. Keane said she was tired out and we gave up the search.

"This morning I met Mrs. Keane by appointment near Mr. Keane's house allttie after 8 o'clock. A lady friend of Mrs. Keane was with her. We called at Mr. Keane was with her. We called at Mr. Keane's house and taken the child with him. He and the little one, she said, had stopped there the night before. We then went to Mrs. Keane's lawyer's office, and he teleptioned Mr. Hobein's office and Mr. Keane had just left for home and that if we went up to his house we could get the child. Mrs. Keene's lawyer's office, and he teleptioned Mr. Hobein's office and Mr. Keane, guirecting aim to give the child to us. We hen went out to Mr. Keane, guirecting aim to give the child to us. We hen went out to Mr. Keane's house, but he was not there, and we came back to Mrs. Keane's lawyer's office. The lawyer told me to go back to the Sheriff's office and if he wanted me again he would send for me."

RETURNED TO KILL.

A Murder Committed at Creve Cour Lake Yesterday.

WM. REDMOND SHOOTS AND INSTANTLY KILLS HENRY SCOTT.

After Leaving Redmond Came Back With a Revolver and Shot Scott-The Murderer Permitted to Escape-Oriminal News of All Kinds.

Henry Scott, a negro, was killed yesterday by a white man named Wm. Redmond on E. W. Payne's farm near Upper Creve Cour Lake, in St. Louis County. The men were both farm hands and were engaged in shocking wheat after a harvester. Early in the afternoon they had a dispute as to which had done and was still coing the most work, and the negro slapped the white man, as he afterwards claimed, for the field and was gone for half an hour of more, when he returned with a revolver and commenced firing at Scott. He fired five shots, three of them taking effect. No effort was made to prevent Redmond from making his escape, and he walked away as deliberately as he had come on the field. He went to Mr. Payne's house and changed his clothes and then walked of down the road and that was the last seen of down the road and that was the last seen of him in that neighborhood. Scott died last night of his injuries. He had been living near Creve Cœur Lake several years and was well known among the farmers of that part part of the county. There were no eye witnesses to the first trouble between Scott and Redmond, but the negro's account of the affair was corroborated in a measure by Redmond in the remark he made just before drawing his revolver. "When I came on the field yesterday afternoon," said came on the field yesterday afternoon," said Mr. Payne this morning, "the men were having their afternoon lunch and I at once noticed that Redmond was not there. 'Where's Redmond?' Iasked. 'O, he's gone to the house,' answered Scott. 'He and to the house, answered Scott. 'He and I had some words a little while ago. You see he wasn't keeping up his side of the line, and I called his attention to it. He got mad and we had some words, and he called me a vile name. I couldn't stand that, and I slapped him in the face. He left after that, and I suppose he is gone home. Pretty soon Redmond came up and referring to Scott, with an oath, said he had slapped him, and commenced firing at the negro. He shot five times and then hurrled away. I told him he could have his pay if he wanted it, but he didn't wait for that, although he went to the house and got his other clothes."

Redmond was a stranger in the neignborhood, having come there only last week.

The St. Louis police were notified this afternoon of the murder and given a description of the murderer.

fine of $10 imposed on Alice Owens of No. 408 South Sixth street, in the Court of Criminal Correction this morn-ing, was the last event in a school room scene which on May 25 agitated the Attucks the Court of Oriminal Correction this morning, was the last event in a school room scene which on May 25 agitated the Attucks (colored) school from top to bottom. The charge against Alice Owens was assault and battery, preferred by Lulu T. Casey, a teacher in the Attucks School, on the northwest corner of Seventh and Hickory streets, and the Prosecuting Attorney was Mr. Chas. B. Stark, the official counsel for the School Board. The testimony elicited the fact that on May 25, Willie Owens, the 13-year-old, son of the defendant, was unattentive in reading class. Miss Casey called on Willie twice, and Willie did not know what part of the lesson the class was in, but when he went to his seat he complained that he had not been given an opportunity to display his talent for reading. Miss Casey heard his murmurs and struck him twice on the back with a rattan for his inattention. A third blow fell athwart Willie's face, but it was claimed that this was an accident, due to Willie's untimely effort to wrench himself away from the grasp of the teacher. Both sides agreed that only three blows were given. Willie hurried home as soon as he was released from the hold of the teacher and told his mother of the affair. Mrs. Owens, so the testimony developed, called a cab and drove at once to the Attucks School, She hastened to the room where Miss Casey was in charge of her classes, and it is alleged gave Miss Casey athrashing far more severe than had been administered to Willie. According to the claims of Miss Casey, Mrs. Owen seized her by the throat, punched her in the face with her fist, bumped her head against the blockboard and then shoved her out into the hall. Mrs. Owens did not stop here, however, it is alleged, but retaining her hold on Miss Casey's throat and neck, bumped her head against the block oard and then shoved her out into the hall. Mrs. Owens did not stop here, however, it is alleged, but retaining her hold on Miss Casey's throat and neck, bumped her head against the blockoard and then shoved her own hands wh

Clean your Straw Hat with Pearline.

Directions.

First brush out all the dirt possible. Then, with a sponge, wash the hat with he ordinary Pearline solution (in the proportion of a tablespoonful to a pail of water.) Steam it well over the nozzle of a kettle; rinse well with sponge and warm water; press into shape, and dry.

You can do all this at home at a cost of less than one penny. It's simple enough, if you have Pearline—but, with Pearline, every kind of washing and cleaning is simple.

Directions for the easiest way, on every package.

Beware palous grocers will tell you same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, do the honest thing—send it back.

EQUALITY OUT OF THE QUESTION.

The merchant tailors are clamoring for e adoption of the bill introduced in Con gress limiting the amount of clothing which one person may bring from abroad to the value of $100. The ground upon which this is asked for is that the present law permitting a person to bring from abroad as much clothing as is proper to his or her condition is unfair, favors the rich and subjects the domestic tailor to gross inequality in the matter of competition The fairness of the demand of the home tailors is not less clear than the absurdity of the reasons which they urge against this he will follow his own example of last year feature of the tariff law. What do they he can contribute not a little to Demoexpect of the protective tariff? What is it maintained for if not to favor the rich and to give unequal advantages to some over others? Why should the men enriched by protection pay out money for more protection if they are not to be specially benefited? Its foundation is inequality.

The home tailor who has to pay the original cost of his goods with the tariff tax added cannot, of course, compete with the tailor who buys in a free market, but the law was not made for him but for the manufacturer, who enjoys the profits of the protection he pays for in slush funds. He and other rich men who sell in the dear market created for them by discriminating laws, shrewdly take advantage of a legal wrinkle in their favor and buy their clothing in the cheap market. Protection is not a matter of patriotism but of busi-

The home tailor may shift some of the worst inequality of the law from himself by shutting off to some extent the tariff dodging of the swells, but it will still exist. The law will still be unfair and will favor the rich and grind the poor. The question this year seems to be, not who can be most easily elected, but who best represents true Democratic principles; who stands for that which is worth fighting for? It is the true Democratic temper which dictated his nomination and which will give nerve to the people in the fight before them. GROVER CLEVELAND stands for honesty and courage, always popular virtues. The man who possesses them can afford to throw away all tricksters' arts. He can afford to dispense with the subterfuces without which lesser men cannot hope for success. His chances for victory are immeasurably improved by the fact, not forgotten, that he once threw away the Presidency for the right.

PECULIAR ACTION ON THE PART OF THE TEACHERS COMMITTEE.

Details of the Work of the Committee Prof. Judson Let Out by a Unanimous Vote, and Then Reinstated on Motion of the President-Committeemen Re-

Prof. Isaac N. Judson, one of the two gures of the Breedlove Judson case result ing in the suicide of Breedlove some months ago, has been reinstated in his position as a action was taken by the Teachers Committee at its last meeting, after an almost unanimous vote at a previous meeting demanding Prof. Judson's resignation, as per understanding with him ollowing Breedlove's spicide. The remarkble feature of the reinstatement, it is said s that there was no evidence offered to offset and resolved that Judson's resignation should be forthcoming for the good of the public schools and that the only reason advanced for retaining him was that of consideration for his family. This latest action of the Teachers Committee, taken in secret session, is exciting the most interested discussion in the inner circle of School Board affairs and the story of how it was brought about is low publicly told for the first time.

HOW IT WAS BROUGHT ABOUT. At a meeting behind closed doors, held by more ago, it is stated that the question of Prof. Judson's retirement from his position came up in rather a pronounced way. The been disposed of, the Judson Walter F. McEntire turning to the Secretary of the committee with the request that Jud son's resignation, which had been promised the committee, be now produced and acted upon. The Secretary looked up in surprise,

"I have no such document," he said. Prof. Judson has not sent in his resigna 'It was upon the understanding that he

"It was upon the understanding that he would resign at this time," Mr. McEntire is reported to have responded, "that no decisive action was taken in Prof. Judson's case at the time of the Breedlove suicide." "Nevertheless, the resignation is not here," repeated the Secretary." "I move, then," said Mr. McEntire, "that this committee make a formal request of Prof. Judson that he resign from his position as a teacher in the St. Louis High School at once."

once."

The motion was carried almost unani-mously, the only members voting against it being Directors Hickman and Fisse. Prof. Judson, it is stated, was immediately e mously, the only members voting against it being Directors Hickman and Fisse.

Prof. Judson, it is stated, was immediately notified that his resignation was demanded by the Teachers Committee of the School Board. But, although it is stated that he has had the distinct understanding that only on the promise of his resignation was decisive action deferred at the time of Breedlove's suicide, it is also stated now that Prof. Judson was found unwilling to fulfill his part of the contract when the time for his resignation arrived. It is stated that he at once began a canvass of the Teachers Committee, bringing all the influence possible to bear on them to retain him in his position, now that the Breedlove affair had apparently blown over. That he was successful in his canvass appears apparent by the following conclusion to the story.

Last Saturday afternoon the Teachers Committee held another secret meeting in the Polytechnic Building. At that meeting President Barthold of the School Board arose and moved a reconsideration of the vote asking for Prof. Judson's resignation. The motion was seconded by Director sheehan, and was carried, the only members voting against it being Directors Kelly, Collins and McEntire. Following that action, Prof. Judson was duly reappointed for the ensuing scholastic gear.

DETAILS OF THE COMMITTEE'S WORK.

The details of the secret action taken by the Teachers' Committee by the School Board during the course of the past two weeks can be given now in definite form. According to unquestionable authority the following than that direction:

The dismissal of Principal Butler of the Blair school has been decided upon, on the ground of his unfair treatment of certain lady assistants whom he refused to mark for promotion, and will be announced by the Teachers Committee in its regular report to the school Board.

Principal Henning W. Prentiss of the Hodgen School has been put on probation for six months on a charge of being continually late in arriving at his school for the morning session. The complaint against Principal Prentiss is not a serious one, but it was thought best to "bring him to time," so to speak, to putting him on probation.

Principal T. K. Vickroy of the Douglas School has been placed on probation for six Principal T. R. Vickroy of the Douglas school has been placed on probation for six months owing to a disagreement between him and the lady first assistant of the Douglas School, which sat is believed, interferes with the proper management of the school, inasmuch as the two are not on speaking terms, and the Teachers Committee find that the fault rests at Principal Vickroy's door.

Mrs. Rachael M. Gass, Principal of the Carr School, has been reduced to the rank of third assistant in that school, owing solely to the fact that her advanced years render the duties of principal too arduous for her strength.

duties of principal too ardious for her strength.

Mrs. Henrietta M. Ordes, Principal of the Elliott School, has been reduced to the rank of head assistant of that school. No change are preferred against Mrs. Ordes, the charges being made, it is stated, only because the committee sees no necessity for the rank of principal in that school.

Of the teachers of lower rank, first and second assistants, some eight or ten reductions in rank have been virtually but not actually decided upon, and so the names of the teachers to be reduced will not be made public prior to the committee's report to the school Board. It is authentically stated that the above changes will constitute the full action of the Teachers Committee in the matter of changes among teachers for the ensuing year.

COMMITTEMEN RESIGN,

The stormy session of the School Board last night, at which a refusal to hear the report of the Course of Stady Committee on its examination of text books for use in the St. Louis Public Schools, resulted in the resignation of Directors Brockman and Hequembourg of that Committee, does away with all possibility of further consideration of the subject until, at the nearest, March, 1898. According to the statements of the three members of the committee who signed that report this leaves the public schools still in the grasp of the "book trust" after the months of work necessary to procure bids from all the leading school book houses of the country and compare them with those of the trust. It is charged by them that the vote against considering their report was a sixnificant vote of the "old board," remforced by Directors Hickman and Fisse, against the new, and that although they were prepared to submit figures showing that the charges proposed in their report would re-

On primers and readers a saving in four years of $8,940. The members signing the report of the Committee on Course of study claim that the School Board was afraid to have this report read and come to a vote, as the vote would have to be taken in the face of the plain figures given above.

THE OLD ORCHARD RORBER Report That He Was Found Dead of His

The citizens of the township of Old Orchard re up in arms because of the repeated depredations of burglars which have been going on for the past year.

Several nights ago A. J. Plack, a grocer, red upon a man who was attempting to enter his store, and the next morning found blood spots left by the marauder, who made his escape. In a days Mr. Plack was told by few days Mr. Plack was told by a man named Cornell, an ice dealer, that a man had called on a physician at Webster, a mile distant, to get the shot picked out of his back and was in a critical condition as a result of his injuries. This morning a rumor was rife that the man had died, but careful investigation developed no facts as to the man's death or even identity.

Mr. D. R. Whitmore, Assistant Secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, who resides at old Orchard, stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had heard the rumor and had called on Mr. Plack last night in regard to the matter. He said that Mr. Plack stated to him that he had gone to Webster to investigate the report, and that it was, so far as he could learn, unfounded.

learn, unfounded. Coggeshall, one of the Vigilance Com-e at Old Orchard, corroborated Mr. mittee at old Orchard, corroborated Mr. Whitmore's statement.
While the robberies at old Orchard have been going on for the past year and have been of frequent recurrence, strange to say in no case have the plunderers been captured. There is a strong suspicion that the robbers are residents of the community and the head of one prominent family is said to have avowed an intention of causing a search warrant to be issued to investigate the contents of the house of a family who live in splendid style at old Orchard, and are thought to be sailing under false colors.

Robberies or attempted robberies are of nightly occurence regardless of the vigilance that is being exercised to prevent it, and the citizens threaten to lynch the first midnight thief captured.

DISSATISFIED WITH THE RULE.

The Amendment to Fe Voted Upon on

'Change Severely Criticised. in sight. The attack on the proposed alteration of the rules of the Merchants' Exchange in regard to adjournment on Saturday during the nonths of July and August took a new form this morning and, one that will, in all probability, cause many to vote against the amendment who are in favor of adjournment. The objection raised is to the form of the amendment. The proposed amendment provides that the Exchange shall be open from 11 to 1:15 daily, except on Saturdays, during the months of July and August. This at once does away with adjournment on any other occasion, save by the cumbrous method of an amendment to the rules. It has been for years the practice of the Merchants' Exchange to adjourn on Good Friday, Memorial Day, Thanksgiving Day, and on some other occasions; under the proposed rule this will be impossible, and to this strong objection has been raised. Even those who were most eager for the change have in many cases expressed their intention of voting against the amendment. An amusing incident in connection with the rule, which was introduced for the purpose of giving the members of the Merchants' Exchange more this morning and, one that will, in all probdent in connection with the rule, which was introduced for the purpose of giving the members of the Merchants' Exchange more hours of leisure during the heated term, is that its first effect will be to cut off a holiday that would otherwise have been granted. All oftier exchanges in the country will adjourn from Friday, July 1, to Tuesday, July 5, and such would have been the course parsued in this city had not the board of directors by fixing the vote for saturday prevented it. A plan is on foot to request the Board of Directors to withdraw the present amendment entirely and to substitute another, allowing adjournment on viva voce vote of the members. Many who will not vote for the new rule in its present form would cast their ballots for such an amendment.

NOEL SAYS THE TREASURER IS NOT CLOSE-MOUTHED ENOUGH.

ma Interesting Facts About the Purchase of Claims Against the Bank by Nelson & Noel-The Management of the Fank's Affairs Being Made a Campaign Issue.

V. Stephens and T. B. Jackson of St. Louis in country town out in the State has aroused the liveliest interest everywhere, all they can to magnify an episode which his than otherwise. Mr. Jackson was a depositor in the Fifth National Bank which failed several years ago in St. Louis, and believing less he sold his claim for 60 cents the dollar to Noel & Nelson, brokers on Pine street. When the bank paid. 99 per cent, Mr. Jackson got indignant, and said he had been misled by the receiver, who was the present State Treasurer. Louis A. Nelson, on of the firm who bought Mr. Jackson's certificate, is the brother-in-law of that he would not have sold his certificate ments Mr. Jackson repeated a few days ago.

a town in Howard County. The Treasurer became enraged, denounced Mr. Jackson as a sianderer, and goaded him into making an amdavit swearing to the truth of ils charge. Treasurer Stephens then told Mr. Jackson that he intended to make the affidavit the basis of a libel suit. Mr. Jackson was then traveling for a wholesale grocery house of St. Louis, whose managers are personal friends of Mr. Stephens. They made things rather unpleasant for the commercial trav-eler when he got back, he says, and he left

The people of Boonville, the home of the Treasurer, where a hot fight is being made on his candidacy for re-election, have made the Armstrong incident an issue of the campaign, and in St. Louis its description in the Sunday Post-Disparch has created ex-cited discussion, particularly among the several thousand depositors of the Fifth National Bank. Except through the story word has of Mr. Jackson, not a word has been heard from Treasurer Stephens about the matter. He is traveling through the State, and is probably stopping in no one place long enough to discover through the newspapers that his mennagement of ex-Mayor Henry Overstolz' old bank has suddenly become a campaign issue. The Post-Dispatch waited thit to-day for its correspondents in the interior to overtake Treasurer Stephens and then sent to Mr. Nelson, his brother-in-law, for a statement about the Jackson charge. Mr. Nelson was not at the St. Louis National Bank, having gone East to place his son in Yale College. H. M. Noel, who was Mr. Nelson's partner in the broker age business at the time the certificate of Mr. Jackson was bought, and is now interested as well in the bank, was in the private office. He is not related to Treasurer Stephens, but is a warm personal friend of his, and he warmly defended the Treasurer, expressing the utmost indignation at the attempt being made to injure him now through the Jackson matter.

"Anybody can see," said he, "that the whole thing is merely an effort to hurt Lon Stephens right now when he is a candidate. I was the man that bought the Fifth National Bank claims, not Mr. Nelson. I think he Stephens Stephens right how when it is a care to the stephens right how when it is not a word of truth in those stories. I was the man that bought the Fifth National Bank claims, not Mr. Nelson. I think he bought only one in all. When the bank first failed, men who had claims came down on Third street and offered them for 25 cents—anything they could get, and nobody would touch them. Everybody thought that the bank would never pay 50 cents on the dollar. I took a look at things, and said to Nelson: 'I'il just take a flyer at this anyway,' and I began buying. I paid all the way from 40 cents up to 75 cents for the claims. This claim of Haggerty, the horse trader, that made more talk than any of the rest. I bought. Haggerty, after the horse trader, that made afore talk than any of the rest. I bought. Haggerty, after he sold, went around complaining and dissitisfied. Why, he came to me and wanted to sell his claim for about 50 cents, and I told him to come down. He didn't do it, but soon afterwards A. J. Well, the broker, came it to me with Haggerty's certificate and wanted to let me have it. Haggerty had gone to John H. Blessing and Well, and had sold it for 60 cents. I read Well, and had sold it Stephens was that he was always rushing into the papers and saying what he hoped to make out of the bank for the directors, so that pretty soon it got difficult to get hold of any of the claims at all, and we had to pay up to 75 cents to get any of them. What do do you suppose we got altogether? How much money in all? Why, not more than $40,000. But the people somehow seemed to have got the idea that we had all the claims that were in stylt.

money in ail? May, not more than $40,000.
But the people somehow seemed to have got the idea that we had all the claims that were in sight.

"The trouble with Lon Stephens," ventured Mr. Noel, with an air of regret, "is his talking. He is always talking. He is inordinately fond of notoriety; he is a sort of a newspaper man himself, you know, and on everyoccasion he rushes into the newspapers with something that he oughtn't to have said. He ought to stayed at home at the beginning of his campaigm and not gone around making speeches. If he had done that he would have a better chance of being elected than he's got now. He's just gone and killed himself with his talking. What does he want with that office, anyway? It leads to nothing and it's a positive sacrifice, Only $3,000 a year, with a heavy bond, and he's spending a lot of money, of course, making his campaign."

And Mr. Noel walked out of the bank and down to his Third street office, making the granitoid pavement resound with his fritated trend.

CHAIRMAN HIRSCHBERG DEFENDS STEPHENS. Henry Hirschberg, the Oilve street optician, was a heavy depositor in the kifth National Bank, and was the Chairman of the Depositors' Committee that worked with the receiver. "Sit. Stephens handled the affairs of that bank excellently," said he. "Nobody could have done so well for the depositors as he did. I rumember the talk about Mr. Jackson's calm at the time, He sold his certificate after I, as Chairman of the Depositors' Committee, issued an announcement when I heard the receiver had said the bank would not pay over 60 cents, warning depositors not to sell, and telling them that I thought the bank would pay fully $6 per cent. I had looked over the books and knew just how matters stood, and even after that Mr. Jackson spid his claim for 60 cents, "" Or you think the zeceiver made an error of judgment in that prediction?"

A GRAND MILITARY DISPLAY. The Regular Troops and Militia to Take Part in the Independence Day Parade.

The preparations for the icelebration of the sociation have been progressing in a most satisfactory manner, and the work accomsatisfactory manner, and the work accomplished yesterday insures a military display such as has not been seen in this city since Gen. Sherman's funeral. A committee yesterday visited Jefferson Barracks, and laid before committee that the troops be ordered to take part in the celebration. The letter of Senator Cockrell, in which he stated that the vecretary of War and left it discretionary with him as to whether the troops should parade or not, was also presented. Col. Young stated that he was in thorough sympathy with the movement, and that, while he was not prepared to issue the order at once, gave assurances that convinced the committee that the regulars would parade. There are now about six hundred recruits at the Barracks, and a large proportion of them will appear mounted. Permission was received from Gov. Francis for the militia to parade under arms, and there is much activity in National Guard circles preparing for the Fourth. Company officers have issued orders calling upon all their men to be present, and a full turnout is assured. The various camps of the Sons of Veterans have offered their services and will parade several hundred strong. The line of march and the programme, will be finally settled and announced at the meeting to be held to-morrow afternoon. The responses to the invitations extended to all societies to join in the commemoration of Independence Day have been far more numerous than had been anticipated. Many have already agreed to take part, and nearly all others have called meetings for the purpose of adopting similar action. The Finance Committee reports that the responses have been most liberal. A committee has been in consultation with Mayor Noonan in reference to the Fire Department. While it will be impossible, owing to the peculiar dangers incident to the day, for a majority of the englishes to be present.

Park Commissioner J. B. Fechter is on the point of making a radical change in the regulations concerning Forest Park. He wants to close the park at a certain hour in the evening, and officially declare it closed at that hour through signs placed in plain view, the park policemen being ordered to pel persons found in the lines after that ar unless they are driving in vehicles or on crois or on horseback. The hour he fabigraies or on horseback. The hour he favors is 18 o'clock. "It is getting to be impossible to keep the park safe and free from objectionable occurrences under the present system of letting people visit it as late as they please, 'said he. "The park is so big that the night policemen out there can't begin to watch it. Things are reported to me every day by the employes that the public have no idea of, and in fact people who see the park only when it is gayest, in the afternoons, would not believe such scenes could happen there. The respectable people who are held up out there after night do not report their misfortune to the papers. Any body who will wait in the Lindell pavilion for a car late at night will get an idea of the things that I want to stop. The pavilion has no electric lights yet. The wires are up, but the lamps have not been attached, and at night the whole place is dark. Couples go there pretending to wait for cars and behave in the grossest fashion. The walks of the park and even the public drives are ut safe late at night. A short time ago a thing occurred out there that would have made a stir if it had got into the papers then. Two young ladies, members of the best families of St. Louis were, out walking in the park during the daylight after suppor and they were dvertaken by darkness before they knew it while they were deep in the park. They started to the cars along one of the main drives and were attacked by hoodlums. They ran screaming to the restaurant, and the caterer then escorted them the rest of the way to the cars with a pistod in his hand. I have been thinking of closing the park and of could not be closed, and I should not care, anyway, to keep venicles out of the park after 10 o'clock at night, and that is the thing I want to accomplish."

A barrel of gasoline in-nded for one of the institutions was left in tended for one of the institutions was left in the hall directly in front of the Dispensary door. Instead of taking it to the institution for which it was intended the driver dumped it at the Hall for one of the city wagons to deliver it. There was an unusual rush of sick and crippled people at the Dispensary, and one or two who could not find seats in the Dispensary walting-room sat on the gasoline barrel. One of them had a pipe and persisted in lighting it every minute or two. When Dr. Priest's attention was called to the man with the pipe he ordered him off the barrel instanter. A few minutes later another man with crutches came along, sat on the same barrel and lit his ripe. Again Dr. Priest was out in the hall. For the next half an hour or more Dr. Priest stayed outside, keeping his pipe-smoking patients away from the gasoline. The barrel was finally removed and the chief of the dispensary staff breathed more freely.

SAINT TERESA.

Not Killed, as Reported, but Living in Arizona.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 28. -It is now stated that the reported execution of the cele brated Teresa Urrea, the "Saint of Socorro," brated Teresa Urrea, the "Saint of Socorro," some days ago, is untrue. The story was purposely circulated by the Mexican authorities in order to quiet the excitement among the restless indians who were becoming dangerous and were flocking to Nogales in great numbers to see their "patron saint" and receive her wonderful treatment of all diseases. "Saint Teresa" did attempt to return to her old home in the mountains of Sonora and was intercepted by the police, who gave out the report that she had been shot. She was again transported to the United States border and warned that if she ventured into Mexico again she would be put to death. She has taken up her abode in Nogales, Ariz., just across the boundary line. It is estimated that she was visited yesterday by fully 5,000 Mexicans and Indians. Many came from interior points in Mexico to receive the treatment for infirmities and diseases.

nai, out occause he is the ecclesiation successor of the oldest Catholic See in this country.

The other twelve archbishops who will be present are: Archbishops Williams of Bos ton: Feehan, Chicago; Elder, Cincinnati; Katzer, Milwaukee; Janssen, New Orleans; Corrigan, New York; Gross, Oregon City; Ryan, Philadelphia; Kenrick, St. Louis; Ireland, St. Paul; Riordan, San Francisco, and Salpointe, Santa Fe.

Archbishop Ireland, who is now in Europe, has signified to his Chancellor at St. Paul his intention of attending the meeting. As the interpretations which the prelates who are opposed to Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland put upon the Pope's recent decision on the Faribault system is directly at variance with its meaning, as judged by those dignitaries, it is said that a more explicit verdict is likely to be rendered at the Vatican before the archbishops come together in October. NEW YORK, June 28.-The monitor Mianto nomah left the Navy Yard yesterday for Gardiner's Bay, where target practice is to be held with the great guns on the ship and also with the guas of the secondary battery and small arms. From Gardiner's Bay the monitor probably will go to New London and await further orders from the Commandant of the North Atlantic squadron, to which she is attached.

A New Invention.

Travelers' Collar and Cuff Portfolio. Ask to see it. A splendid thing.

Dissatisfied Indians. El Reno, I. T., June 28.—The chiefs of the Arapahoe and Cheyenne Indians refuse to Arapance and Cheyenne Indians refuse to accept the best issue from the Government, which commenced yesterday. This will be the last beef issue by the Government to these indians and there is no little concern among the settlers as to the outcome of this surilmess among the reds. They are sulking over the allotment of their lands. Old Chief Whirlwind and Chief Charley refuse to give in.

The new device shown above is a clever thing, and one certainly hadly needed, for it there is anything on the face of the earth that has annoyed the traveler more than another it is the carrying of collars and cuffs.

It can best be likened to a big pocketbook; it takes up the smallest possible space, and is light, flexible, convenient, attractive and economical, and is good for home use as well as traveling. LaDiss find it a marvel of convenience for carrying laces, ruchings, cards, handkerchiefs, kid gloves, etc. Ask your dealer for it; it will delight you, as it does the work to a T. BREAKFAST.

The marvelous success of "Quick Meal" Gasoline Stoves is caused by its absolute safety against accidents. The reason of such security is that the burners can not be opened farther than necessary, the tank can not be taken off for filling unless all the burners are shut, an indicator shows when the burners are open or closed, and a glass tube shows the dripping of gasoline. "Quick Meal" Gasoline Stoves are durable, simple and economical. These wonderful stoves must be seen to be appreciated

The English visible of wheat increased 1,250,000 50 but last week, it is estimated.

When the spirits move a man to act in the market they generally call the turn, it would seem.

Beerbohm in this morning's cables says the Indian wheat crop is 64,000,000 bu smaller than last year's. Last week the United Kingdom imported 194,000" bbis four, 3,380,080 bu wheat and 1.490,000bu corn.

wheat will be ready for harvest from 7th to 10th of July; a.

The Illinois State crop report says winter wheat in the southern division has find marked improvement since May 1, and the prospects are better than last year, but in the central has decreased 2 points in condition, while in the northern portion, where little is raised, it is 3 points better and apring wheat doing well. Unseasonable weather delayed corn planting and on June 20 farmers were hoping to get in more, but ground hard and tough and weeds had too much start. In the southern portion 86 per cent and condition 65. A late fall is expected to help out the crop.

Abel Rey of Paris says under date June 7:

The raising on the 1st inst. of our duties on wheat and flour has had no effect on our prices, as some expected. On the contrary, they are now lower than they have been for the last twelve months. The causes of it are our very large reports, the Thick causes of it are our very large reports, the United States. "Our stocks of wheat and of flour, reduced into wheat, duty paid and in bond, are 5.449.498 hectolitres in our ports, estimated 1,179. 220 nectolitres in Paris, official 6,628,718 hectolitres.

"Our crop prospects are, in general, good. The plant looks splendld on the heavy lands which are the majority and which give the largest yields. It is rather thin on light soils on account of the dry weather of the last three months, but it is likely to improve with the present rains. I believe the crop will reach 120,000,000 hectolitres.—310,000,000 hu.

It is now raining affine two days, which will benefit them materially. A large proportion of the last heavy er patil remains on the farms. Of hay the first out will be very small. "Abe Rey estimates the excess of wheat supplies in France on June 1 over requirements as 11,427,703 hectolitres, or about $2,000,000 bu.

Hogs-Since yesterday noon 1,510 head were received in 46 consignments, showing an unusually large number of small interbe-from 1 to 16 and 12 head. As a rule the stock was medium and below; there were, however, some pretty fair hogs, and a few excellent ones. One consignment embraced 36 hogs, more or less dasies, and brought $5.45-the top notch of the day. But generally the stock was not of a kind to enthuse over. There is a shortage in good fatted stock that shippers should ponder over.

43 retailed from $1.25 to $3.40.

Southern Cattle—Seven carloads, 203 head, were received since yesterday. There was nothing extra in the whole lot; the yearlings are rather inferior. Sales were rather slow. At 11 a.m. the following were reported—mostly retailed for buthers' use:

Head.
10 Indian butcher steers.
4 Indian butcher steers.
2 Indian butcher steers.
2 Indian butcher steers.
6 Indian butcher steers.

Sheen-Receipts were Sheep—Receipts were 629 sheep and 32 lambs. The stock was nothing noteworthy—about medium. Sheep were rather steady, quotations being $3.000 work's closing; the decline was not caused by an excess of that kind of stock, but by a weak's closing; the decline was not caused by an excess of that kind of stock, but by a weaker market in Chicago. "Stockers" were slow at $3.25@3.50. Sales were:

10 bucks per head $2.25.

There is a demand for good, fat lambs in this market; such as average from 60 to 75 pounds will always bring best prices. During the lot weather yery fat sheep are not wanted; those fro u 90 to 100 pounds are most desired. Choice ewe lambs might bring $5.75.

Horses—Car loads were received from 8. T. Haynes, Clyde, Kan.; A. Putnam, Chillicothe, Mo., and Daily Bros., Memphis, Mo. The consignments were mostly draft horses. Hesides these were scattering shipments of "odds and ends." Extra good driving horses are always in good demand here, and smooth, nice fancy stock usually brings good prices. Plain common stock is nard to sell; thin and rough horses might bring from $70 to $85. VISITING SHIPPERS.

First Step Taken in the Final Dissolu-

LONDON, June 28 .- To-day the Queen prorogued Parliament, the formal preliminary step to dissolution, which follows imme-rogued Parliament, the formal preliminary step to dissolution, which follows immediately. The Queen, in her speech proroguing Parliament, says:

"Our foreign relations are friendly. Treatles have been duly ratified which refer our differences with the United States respecting Behring Sea to arbitration."

The speech refers to the ratification of the action of the Brussels conference for the suppression of the siave trade, though noting the French reservations respecting the maritime slave trade. The Queen says that she has gladly assented to the bills which Parliament has enacted and the speech lays particular emphasis upon the small holdings bill and the clergy discipline bill to enable bishops to clear the church of clergymen suitty of immorality. Her Majesty adds: "In closing this Parliament, which has been unusually laborious and fruitful of beneficial legislation. I thank you for the assiduous performance of your momentous duties during the last six years, and I heartily commend you to the favor of Almighty God."

According to the proclamation for dissolution the writs for a general election must issue forthwith. Dissolution occurring today, the programme will be as follows: Writs received, Wednesday, June 29; nomination, Saturday, July 2; borough poil, Monday, July 4 (earliest), and Wednesday, July 6 (latest).

The limit of time for the county elections is very much wider. In these the nomination may take place any time up to the ninth day after the receipt of the writ, and the election may be postponed until six clear days after the nomination. As to the date of the assembling of the new Parliament, [there is no absolute rule, but there is also no precedent in the present century for an interval of more than nine weeks.

GODDARD AND M'AULIFFE WILL BATTLE

How the Men Look in Their Training Quarters on the Coast-McAuliffs the Favorite-Dixon Whips Johnson-Eastern 3-Year-Olds-Gossip of the Turf and Diamond.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 28.-Interest in he McAuliffe-Goddard fight scheduled for next Thursday night is on the increase. Though betting thus far has not been heavy, the odds are ten to eight on McAuliffe and the Australian's backers claim they should be greater, considering the disparity be-tween the two men in height, weight and reach. If McAuliffe were as skilled as Peter Jackson, he ought with his long reach to escape without a scratch and leisurely jab Goddard. His friends say he has improved in quickness and skill, and they predict an easy victors for him.

cscape without a scratch and leisurely jab Goddard. His friends say he has improved in quickness and skill, and they predict an easy victory for him.

If Goddard wins, he declares he will challenge Peter Jackson. He claims he had Peter whipped in Sydney at the end of eight rounds, and that if the contest had been allowed to go on he could have knocked out the dusky gladlator.

Both men have been working faithfully in their training quarters for weeks past. McAuliffe's big foran has been relieved of all its superfluous flesh. His face and hands have been terribly browned by the run, which beats down on him mercliessly on his daily excursions between his training quarters at the Six-Mile House and Baden. Alex. Gregains, his trainer, puts him through a boxing bout daily, and declares the big fellow has improved wonderfully, and is as light on his feet as a middle-weight.

Goddard is very comfortably quartered at Ingleside, where he trains in the seclusion of a private gymnasium. Joe avoids publicity as much as possible, and will not see strangers. Your correspondent visited him yesterday just after he had been measured by Dr. Clinton. The result of Dr. Clinton's measurements was as follows: Height, 6 feet; chest, 33½ inches, and under forced inspiration it reached 41 inches; bleeps, when lax, 124 inches; thigh, 22½ inches, and caif, 15 inches. Goddard weighs 190 pounds.

The doctor said: "Goddard is one of the best proportioned men I ever saw. His strength is evenly distributed throughout his body." Joe certainly does look rugged and strong, and is working hard to strengthen his wind, which he depends on a great deal to help him make a fast Aght. Despite the Barrier Eighter's confidence it looks as though his wind, which he depends on a great dear to help him make a fast fight. Despite the Barrier fighter's confidence it looks as though his antagonist's advantage in height, weigut and reach will tell against him in the fight.

MEYER WILL TRAIN AT HOME. Caicago, Ill., June 28.—Alf Kennedy and Billy Meyer left for Streator last night. Kennedy has decided that Meyer shall do all of his training for his coming fight with Jack McAuliffe at his old home. The training quarters are ready, and in a few days Meyer will begin active work and hopes soon to be in shape to enter the ring and wage battle against his old-time opponent.

JIMMY CARROLL'S PLANS. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 28.-Jimmy Carroll, ex-lightweight champion, has returned to this city from the East, where he has been acting as manager for Bob Fitzsimmons in sparring exhibitions given by the latter after his defeat of Peter Maher at New Orleans. Carroll to-day declined to make a match with Billy Maher, the well-known Australian puglish, stating that he (Carroll) would challenge the winner of the heyer-alcauline light to fight in February or March hext before any club in the country offering the largest purse, and as he was not in the best of health, he did not care to enter the ring again before that time. sparring exhibitions given by the latter after

BLACK WINS. George Dixon, now the world's champion oantam, finished the English featherweight. Fred Johnson, in fourteen rounds at the Coney Island Jockey Club last night. John L. Sullivan, with a goodly jag he had acquired at the races during the afternoon, was among the spectators. Jim Corbett was also among the spectators. Jim Corbett was also present and excited more enthusiasm on entering than did the champion. Five thousand people were present when the men entered the ring at $1:00. They were nothing but trunks, waistbands and shoes. For the first five rounds Dixon went at his opponent like a cyclone. Johnson seemed dazed by the lightning blows of his dusky antagonist, and his ducking to avoid punishment was invariably rewarded by fierce uppercuts. From the fourth to the tenth round the Englishman avoided punishment better, but his attempts to lead were futile. In the fourteenth round Dixon staggered Johnson with a terrific blow on the stomach, and followed it with a stinger on the right jaw given with such force that both men fell. Johnson's head struck the floor with such frightfall force he was unable to rise, and had to be carried to his dressing room. Dixon was awarded the light.

Johnson's friends claimed that their man his dressing room. Dixon was awarded the night.

Johnson's friends claimed that their man had been back-heeled by the colored boy, but it is hardly fair to Dixon, who has always shown himself a clean, honest fighter, to accuse him of trying anything crooked, when he had the hight plainly won. Johnson's showing proves him a muchily overrated figurer. He was plainly outclassed from the start. He showed some cleverness at infighting and won the admiration of the spectators for courage and seemingly endless capacity for punishment. His boxing was weak and his few attempts to lead, puerile compared with the cyclonic rushes of his antagonist. Dixon's superior science, splendid reach and orilliant tactics won him the fight.

BASE BALL Club League closes July 18, a fortnight hence, so that the clubs may be said to have entered the home stretch. It is generally conceded that Boston's high-priced aggregation of ball tossers will come in first, but the fight for second place grows daily warmer, and the outcome is uncertain. Some think that Philadelphia, if the team keeps up its prespinded place in the property of the many fast 2-year-olds who are performing in the East this season, says Arthur F. Bowers.

unless the Phillies capture both games their chances for the championship are nil. Both teams have yet to play two games with each of the Western clubs. It is not likely that Boston will make such a poor showing as to let the Phillies overcome their present lead of seven games. Philadelphia and Brooklyn are tled for second place, despite the misleading tables published in the morning papers. Philadelphia has a winning streak on that they will probably keep up until the end of the series while the Brooklyns have lately been putting up a very uneven article of ball. The Bridgegrooms will have to improve their gait if they want to keep neck and neck in the finish. Cincinnati was forging rapidly forward but a streak of bad luck encountered at Pittsburg has put them back in fifth place. The end of the season will find them a notch above Cleveland as Tebeau's spiders have dropped off considerably from the form in which they opened the season. Anson's windy city aggregation will move down a peg to make room for the "pirates." It is more than probable that the Browns in their present reinforced condition will pass New York and Washington and wind up in fifth place. Louisville mourning for Chapman will give Baitimore a hard tussie for tail end honors.

GALVIN'S GAME. Jimmy Galvin evidently studied the weak points of the Pittsburg batters while with the team for he had them completely at his mercy yesterday. James can throw as speedy a ball as any man in the profession when he chooses, but he don't pitch every speedy a ball as any man in the profession when he chooses, but he don't pitch every ball that way. His manner of doing it is something like this: The first ball wizzes by the ghatter like greased lightning. After he has once struck at it James knows how to put it to him where it will do least harm. Before delivering the next ball Galvin sizes up the batter for fully half a minute, then gives an imitation of a catapult about to fire a ten-ton stone. The ball is delivered, the batter makes a lunge at it, and as he swings back into position he sees the sphere curve leisurely across the plate. The next ball Jim holds behind his back and delivers with an easy underland motion. The batter suspects another teaser, but the ball shoots by him and the umpire yells "Strike!" That is the way Jimmy played with his old comrades, the Pittsburgs, yesterday and the exhibition was thoroughly enjoyed by 2,000 spectators. Aside from his headwork, he watched the bases so closely that the visitors could not steal a bag. Mark Baidwin pitched a very effective game for the visitors, but was unreliable at critical points. Both men were given aimost perfect support. The sacrifice hitting of the home team aided them materially in winning the game. The summary: St. Louis, 4; Pittsburg, 3. Base hils: St. Louis, 7; Pittsburg, 7. Errors: St. Louis, 2; Pittsburg, 1.

Washington has now but thirteen men on its list of players. The Glants have proven a worse disappointment than Chicago. Buffinton has not done the work expected of him for Baltimore.

The Cincinnati Reds have eighteen straight games to play at home. Terry has proven a winner for Pittsburg, yet Baitimore let him go. Louisville fans are heart-broken over the downfall of the Colonels.

Mike Griffin, center fielder of the Brooklyns, is one of the best in the business. Tim Keefe is pitching as good ball as he ever did, which is cold comfort for New York.

The Baltimore players have been notified that a big cut in salaries will go into effect July 1.

hatis, has been signed.

Bob Caruthers and Jack Glasscock sprinted a hundred yards' dash after yesterday's game. Stake unknown. Bobby easily outstripped the shortstop.

Charley Farrell did not make a hit yesterday. Charley is not slugging the sphere as victously this season as he did last summer when he was with Boston's Association champions.

Umpire Hurst could add greatly to the comfort of the spectators at Sportsman's Park by wearing a chest protector. Mr. Hurst's many narrow escapes recently from pass balls and foultips has caused much anxiety in the grand stand.

To question such decisions as that of Umpire durst's yesterday in deciding Brodle out for classcock's interference is the height of oily. Glasscock deliberately attempted to buil Bierbauer with his hat. Anyone who oves honest base ball and knows the rules of he game should acknowledge that Mr. lurst's decision was perfectly just.

The triumph of His Highness in the Futurity last year of course set him at the head of the list; but Victory could not be considered far behind him, since he succeeded in defeating His Highness in a singularly easy manner when they met for the last time at Sheepshead Bay. It is true that this fine coit was afterward outrun by Merry Monarch at Jerome Park; but Victory at that time was undoubtedly suffering from rheumatism. This disease has affected and crippled many horses that would otherwise have ranked nearly in the first-class. It is not at all uncommon among thoroughbreds. They are fed on heating and stimulating food, they are kept in a feverish state of strain and stress by the severity of their training, and consequently they are in such a condition that any chill may bring on a serious attack of rheumatism. St. Florian was deplorably over-raced last year. If he had been treated with as much consideration as was His Highness, the record of his exploits might more nearly have equaled that of the son of The Ill Used. Then there is Tammany, who dis played such striking form in the Withers. Patron, too, has improved vastly over his running in 1891. Locohatchee and Lamplighter are not to be be overlooked. It is certainly a wonderful collection of 3-year-olds on the American turf this year, and many a contest must take place before it can be decided beyond a question how they rank among themselves—which stands first, which comes second, which third, and so on. By way of postscript it may be added that Nomad and Ludwig may yet prove themselves to be colts of sterling quality and fine performance.

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE.

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE. La Fleche, the famous race-horse belonging to Baron Hirsch, has never earned 1 cent of money for her millionaire owner, although her winnings have amounted to thousands of pounds. All of her earnings are given to and has won every race she entered except the Derby. She is by St. Simon-Quiver and bears the distinction of having been bred for Queen Victoria. About a year ago Baron hirsch secured her at a sale of royal year-lings for the sum of $27,600, the largest price but one ever paid for so young a horse. Baron Hirsch's entire stable runs for charity, but La Fleche is the bright star of the great philanthropist's string.

TRACK TALK.

Fitzpatrick was to have ridden Carlsbad in the American Derby, but his Eastern engage-ments would not permit of it. The call for good jockeys is very great in the East, and fitz has any number of mounts. "Monk" Overton will go to Monmouth in July to ride Huron.

The brood-mare Zadie, 12 years old, by imp. Intruder, dam by Revenue, owned by Capt. W. E. Simms of Paris, Ky., died yesterday. Zadie produced Yale '91, Eli and other good race-horses. She was in foal to Leonatus race-horses. She was in foal to Leonatu and left a foal by imp. Outcast. Her owner valued her at $4,000.

A Chicago dispatch says that Carlshue, a full brother to Carlsbad, the American Derby winner, will in all probability be taken to England and prepared to compete with English thoroughbreds for English Derby honors next June. John Porter, the veteran English trainer, will take charge of Carlshue as soon as he arrives in England. as soon as he arrives in England.

Ed Corrigan will take Huron to Monmouth Park and start him in the Lorillard Stakes for 3-year-olds July 9, says a Chicago turf authority. Just how the horse will do remains to be seen. The Eastern 3-year-olds are of a much higher class this season than ever and Huron will infect better colts there than he raced with here. Agra and Bashford are entered in these races and the game son of Reform will be hard to beat at a mile and a haif. Mr. Corrigan remembers the great Derby race at Louisville and thinks Agra the best 3-year-old Huron has met.

Capt. Mason Says the Anchor Line Suffers

The Cityof Cairo arrived yesterday evening from Natchez with 300 tons of freight and the City of New Orleans from New Orleans at 10 o'clock last night with 1,100 tons. As the City of Monroe clears at 5 o'clock this evening for Natchez, the Levee front is a mass of horses, wagons and men, loading and unloading freight, that is plied up and down the river front in reckiess profusion for three-blocks. From some source or another the services of about seventy-five white longshoremen have been secured by the Anchor Line Co, and freight is being handied of this morning and asked the after unording for a month he replied:

"Mothing new this morning. You see for yourself that I have all the men I want. My boats are coming in and going out on regular time and we are handling freight right along. The old employes have not returned to work, but that dags not interfere with our
